In the Spotlight

Each month we will spotlight a particular style of powwow dance.

Men's Fast and Fancy

This is the kind of pow wow dancing that spectators love. It is fast and furious. Dancers must be in top physical condition to execute the tricky footwork and acrobatic movements that make this style so exciting to watch. It's not uncommon to see Fancy Feather dancers do cartwheels, backflips and splits in competitive dancing. Key to being a champion Men's Fancy dancer is keeping on beat while making fringe and feather bustles shaking and swaying all the while twirling hand held spinners. It is always exciting to see the dancers interpret what the drum is doing and to see them all stay in time with the beat and stop on time. You definitely don't want to miss this category!

NATURAL RESOURCE NEWS

Last Cut Wood For The Elders Day

The Tribal Natural Resources Committee and Natural Resources Department will sponsor the last “Cut Wood For The Elders Day” of the year on Saturday, September 15th. The woodcut will be held on the Tribe’s Logsden Road Property between the Tribal Food Distribution Warehouse and the Tribal Vehicle Storage Yard in Siletz. We need lots of volunteers to help cut, split and deliver firewood for Tribal elders. Bring your chainsaws, hydraulic wood splitters, splitting mauls, axes, and lots of energy. Even if you don’t have any of those we can use the moral support! Lunch, drinks, and snacks will be provided. We will start at 8:00 AM and go until around 2:00 pm.

The goal of this event will be to deliver firewood to as many elders as possible. The Elders’ Program maintains a list of elders that burn wood for their winter heat. People willing to haul firewood to elders outside of the Siletz area, please contact the Elders Program Clerk at 1-800-922-1399 ext. 1261 or 541-444-8261 to be paired up with an elder in need. We especially need folks who can haul wood to the Eugene, Salem, and Portland areas. Elders in need of firewood should also contact the Elders Program Clerk to get their name on the delivery list.

If you have parents or grandparents that burn wood in the winter to stay warm, you need to help out at this event! Come help replenish those wood piles for the coming winter. This is the last woodcut of the year!

Start the school year with a smile:

3 back-to-school tips

It's the start of a new school year, and your kids are set with new clothes and school supplies. But don't forget about oral health! Add these dental health tips to your back-to-school checklist.

All Tribal Offices will be closed:
September 3rd
(Labor Day)
September 10th
(Treaty Day)

1. Take your kids to the dentist

Start the school year right with a dental cleaning and exam. Ask your child's dentist about sealants and fluoride treatments to prevent decay. These treatments are easy ways to stop cavities before they start. And they can even improve your child's performance at school.

2. Pick the right snacks

Swap out lunchbox no-no's with healthy alternatives. Instead of chips or crackers, try nuts. Salty snacks may seem healthy because they don't contain sugar, but simple starches can be just as bad. These snacks break down into a sticky goo, coating teeth and promoting decay. Avoid candies and granola bars, offering crunchy snacks like celery sticks, baby carrots and cubes of cheddar cheese.

3. Make brushing and flossing fun

To keep their mouths healthy, kids need to brush twice a day for two minutes at a time. They should also floss every day, preferably after dinner. Try these tricks to make oral hygiene more exciting:

Use a sticker calendar. Let your kids place stickers on each day to represent brushing and flossing.

Play music. Collect your kids' favorite two-minute songs and make sure they brush the whole time.

Personalize. Help your child pick a themed toothbrush in his or her favorite color.

Provide a kid-friendly floss holder. These Y-shaped devices make flossing more comfortable.

World Suicide Prevention Day - September 10, 2018

Joining together is critical to preventing suicide, and together we can raise awareness, educate, and share resources at multiple levels. Next month's special issue offers many resources to empower educators with the knowledge they need to help our youth. We are Connected. #WeNeedYouHere.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Going back to school after summer or a holiday break, can be hard. You might be sad that the days of sleeping in and having extra time on your hands are over until the next break. Or alternatively, you might be really excited to get back to school, catch up with all your friends and start your new classes.

No matter what you might be feeling, here are a few tips that can help you get back into the right frame of mind to get back to school and get motivated for the new semester or quarter.

- Remember you're not alone. A lot of other people are just as likely to be anxious about returning to school as you are.
- Set some goals. These might be school-related goals, like getting good grades in certain classes, or personal goals, like joining a club or volunteering.
- Get involved. A good way to get back into things at school and possibly make new friends is to become involved in activities or clubs.
- Break the ice. You and other students in the class are in the same situation and one great way to break the ice is to start talking to with your class mates.
- Don't stick to stereotypes. It's often easy to identify different groups at your school.

David Glidden, Melissa Lane & Gavin Lane

Congratulations to Melissa Lane and David Glidden for graduating from the Home Visiting Program. They entered the Home Visiting program in March of 2015 when they were expecting their first child and continued until Gavin turned three this August. Melissa and David both participated in the visits, interacting and engaging in the lessons. Their confidence as parents grew over the course of the visits. They gained skills and knowledge that have helped them to interact with their son in encouraging ways that foster learning and positive development.

Melissa says “The lessons really helped us. The program is encouraging and supportive of being the best parents we can be.” David had this to say about the program, “It’s a very great program for those who are nervous about being first time parents. Great way to learn about native parenting practices.”

Summer Activities To Enjoy In Recovery

Take a Hike

Get outside and enjoy the sunshine! Pack up a healthy snack and plenty of water before hitting a local park or a hiking trail near you. Be sure to apply plenty of sunscreen to protect your skin. This is an activity you can enjoy on your own (be sure to let someone know where you will be going and what time you expect to return) or with a group of friends.

Learn a Summer Sport

There are plenty of summer sports to help you stay in shape. Try a yoga or tai chi class in the park or sign up for a few golf or tennis lessons. You may even decide to take up rollerblading, surfing or waterskiing.

Plant a Garden

There is still time to plant flowers and tend to them in the summer. If you are living in an apartment or have limited space in your back yard, consider placing your flowers in some decorative containers. You still get the satisfaction of growing and nurturing your flowers, albeit in a smaller area.

Visit a Museum or Art Gallery

Play tourist and visit a museum or art gallery in your city. Check out the website in advance for special exhibits and discount days when you can get a price break on admission.

Go to a Concert in the Park

Many cities feature open-air concerts during the summer months. You can find information on your city's official website or in local community newspapers. Take a lawn chair or a blanket to sit on during the concert, and be sure to include a sweater or jacket if the concert is taking place in the evening.

Visit a Summer Festival

There are plenty of festivals taking place during the summer. Some of them celebrate a particular culture, while others focus on a town or region's history, or a particular food. You can find a neighborhood festival in your city or venture further afield to a village or town nearby.

Festivals feature an assortment of music, food and entertainment. Plan to enjoy a summer afternoon or day enjoying everything the festival has to offer.

Go on a Picnic

Food always tastes better outdoors. You can go solo or invite some family members or friends to join you on your picnic. Look for some easy picnic recipes online that are tasty and don't involve a great deal of prep time.

Volunteer your Time

"Regular" volunteers may be in short supply due to family commitments or scheduled vacations during the summer. This may mean more opportunities to volunteer your time in your community.

Remember recovery also means enjoying life and learning new things while maintaining support for your recovery. So go out and try new things, who knows you may just find a new passion for life.

Behavioral Health

Summer comes to a close:

It's starting to cool down, though the fires in surrounding areas have caused some breathing troubles as air quality has been dangerous. School is starting back up, and emotions are mixed as some parents are happy to have the added structure of school in their children's lives, while many children are wishing summer lasted longer...

Summer experiences:

Many activities continue to be held by various programs in the Siletz tribe. Activities I've been involved in lately include a couple Culture in the Park events, where we did cultural activities and took youth swimming at the Sellwood pool, and a trip up to Mt. Hood to explore the adventure park.

Mental Health Specialist services include:

Couples counseling, adventure-based therapy, youth, adult and family counseling with emphasis in experiential healing and person-centered therapy.

Traditional Coping

September is a good time to start gathering wood for our Elders for the winter, which Youth Council participants will be doing on September 15th. Rafting trips are coming to a close, but I'll get to do my first one as a guide for the Men's TLC residents, September 13th! Run for the Rogue is happening September 7-9th, and it is a very powerful experience to all whom can attend. As always, smudging, sweat lodges, talking circles and prayer are all traditional ways to connect with the Creator and feel re-centered.
