

Siletz Tribe invites community to 42nd annual Restoration Pow-Wow on Nov. 16

The public is invited to join the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians on Saturday, Nov. 16, as it holds its annual Restoration Pow-Wow at Chinook Winds Casino Resort in Lincoln City, Ore.

This free event begins with a grand entry at 6 p.m. American Indian vendors with jewelry, beadwork and other items for sale will be available throughout the day.

This is the 42nd year that the Siletz Tribe has celebrated the signing of Public Law 95-195, which re-established government-to-government relations between the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians and the federal government. The Siletz Tribe was terminated from federal recognition in August 1954.

In the late 1960s, it became apparent that the only way to preserve and revitalize Siletz Tribal sovereignty, community and culture was for the Siletz Tribe to regain its status as a Tribe recognized by the United States.

In November 1977, after years of intense lobbying, Congress and President Jimmy Carter approved Public Law 95-195, which reinstated recognition of the Siletz as a federal Indian Tribe. The Siletz Tribe was the second in the nation – and the first in Oregon – to achieve restoration.

Dedicated to improving the quality of life of its more than 5,400 members, the Tribe puts strong emphasis on the education, health and social well-being of all its members.

Significant Tribal accomplishments since Restoration include opening the original health clinic in 1991 and a new much larger clinic in 2010; building more than 150 homes and multiple dwellings for Tribal members, including 28 units at Neachesna Village in Lincoln City that have opened since 2009, 19 apartments in Siletz that opened in 2010 and 20 homes in the Tillamook subdivision in Siletz that have opened since 2013; completing the Siletz Dance food distribution warehouse in Siletz in 2008; and opening the Siletz Rec Center in 2009.

Through its economic development division, the Siletz Tribal Business Corporation, the Tribe purchased the Lincoln Shores office complex in Lincoln City in 2001 and opened the Siletz Gas & Mini-Mart in Siletz in 2004, the Logan Road RV Park in Lincoln City in 2004 and the Hee Hee Illahee RV Resort in Salem in 2006.

Tribal offices in Portland, Salem and Eugene are housed in Tribally owned buildings. The Eugene office moved to its current location in 2005, the Salem office did the same in 2006 and the Portland office moved to its current location in 2008.

The Tribe also played a lead role in opening Siletz Valley School in 2003 and Siletz Valley Early College Academy in 2006.

The Siletz Tribal Arts & Heritage Society (STAHS) was formed in 2013 as a nonprofit to enhance the Tribe's ability to develop the Siletz Tribal Cultural Center. STAHS also helps the Tribe with acquiring object and archival collections.

Chinook Winds Casino in Lincoln City opened in May 1995. In 2004, the Siletz Tribe purchased the former Shilo Inn adjacent to the casino and opened Chinook Winds Casino Resort. Chinook Winds Golf Resort opened in 2005 when the Tribe purchased the former Lakeside Golf and Fitness Center in Lincoln City.

The combination of Tribal employees and those at Chinook Winds Casino Resort has made the Siletz Tribe the largest employer in Lincoln County.

The Siletz Tribe has honored its tradition of sharing within the community by distributing more than $ 17___ million through the Siletz Tribal Charitable Contribution Fund and other Tribal resources. Chinook Winds has donated more than $6.5 million in cash and fundraising items since 1995. It also provides in-kind donations of convention space for various fundraisers as well as technical support, advertising and manpower for events.

Visit Indian Fair at casino on Nov. 23

The Siletz Tribal Arts and Heritage Society (STAHS) is proud to present the 2019 Siletz Indian Fair on Saturday, Nov. 23.

Sponsored by STAHS in cooperation with the Siletz Tribal Culture Department, the fair will be held at Chinook Winds Casino Resort. The public is invited to attend this free event from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The 2019 Indian Fair commemorates the 104th anniversary of the very first Indian Fair held in Siletz in 1915. It will be reminiscent of those earlier Indian Fairs as a time of sharing traditions, history and culture.

A wide array of items created by Native artists and craftspeople will be on display, including regalia, baskets and other art forms both historic and contemporary. Native vendors will have items for sale to help with some early Christmas shopping.

You are invited to join in this educational celebration of the rich culture and history of the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians.

STAHS is a nonprofit organization that was formed in 2011. Its mission is to support and promote the practice, conservation and restoration of the Tribal cultures of the Confederated Tribes of the Siletz Indians.

It's been a busy couple of months for the Tribal Council.

Council members attended the Museum at Warm Springs' fundraising event that honored Virginia Beavert of the Yakima Nation for her lifelong commitment to teaching their culture. Also honored was Howie Arnett for his lifelong achievements and providing legal services to the Warm Springs Tribe.

The council held a government-to-government meeting with the Ute Tribe of Utah to discuss the economic ventures of both Tribes.

Run to the Rogue was awesome this year. Our friends in Port Orford provided a wonderful meal that was well-attended. The runners were ahead of schedule and arrived a bit early at Oak Flats. They were greeted by the very large number of Tribal members and friends. We are grateful to the organizers, helpers and runners for making this one of the Tribe's biggest and most important events.

The Native American Youth and Family Center (NAYA) hosted its annual pow-wow in Portland in September. Paul Lumley, NAYA executive director, honored several community members for their work and support in the Portland community, and our Tribe for the work and development of the new affordable housing being built in Portland. We are thankful for the services NAYA provides.

Robert Kentta, Sharon Edenfield, Bud Lane and I traveled to Washington, D.C., to meet with our legislative delegation and several key officials regarding legislative initiatives, including Chemawa Indian School. We summarized the discussions as very positive for the Tribe.

Sharon Edenfield, Brenda Bremner and I met in the Portland Regional Office to negotiate the coming year's self-governance compact. We are hopeful that the projected BIA funds are appropriated, as the funding at this point is only until mid-November.

The Chemawa Station Board of Directors (Siletz and Grand Ronde) met recently to finalize plans for the Chemawa Station property. We have not yet signed leases but are very close to it. Infrastructure work on the property has begun.

The Siletz Tribal Business Corporation will be reorganized as discussed in a recent workshop held by the Tribal Council. Currently, the accounting functions have been moved to Siletz from Lincoln City.

The Affiliated Tribes of Northwest Indians (ATNI) Annual Convention was held in Suquamish, Wash., in early October. Loraine Butler, Reggie and Lillie Butler, and I attended along with our Tribal planner, Pam Lind.

We all attend the general sessions as well as breakout sessions of interest. The resolutions that are agreed on and passed go to the National Congress of American Indians (NCAI). The NCAI Annual Convention and Marketplace will be held in Albuquerque, N.M., this month and we will be in attendance.

The Tribal Council's regular monthly meeting was held in Brookings, Ore., in

Delores Pigsley

October. This allows members in that area to attend and obtain enrollment cards if needed.

The Restoration Committee held its final meeting last month as we prepare for this year's Restoration Celebration at Chinook Winds. I look forward to seeing and visiting with family and friends who join us in this celebration.

The primary changes are DNA testing requirements for every new application for enrollment and a six-month waiting period for new enrollment for anyone who has relinquished membership from another federally recognized Tribe. The other primary changes are format and organization of the ordinance.

If you are unable to log in to the member section or want a paper copy, contact the Enrollment Department at 541-444-8258; 800-922-1399, ext. 1258; or angelar@ctsi.nsn.us.

Power is in the kitchen: Children nourished through food, family, relationships

By Nancy Ludwig, MS, RDN, LD,
Siletz Tribal Head Start Nutritionist

We must feed ourselves to be sovereign, free and healthy. As part of my role as consultant nutritionist to Siletz Tribal Head Start, I offer information for families and remind the readers that I am available to support Head Start families by discussing nutrition-related concerns via telephone at no charge through the program (ask your teacher or the director for support from the nutritionist).

The kitchen is a power center because that is where people are nourished through food and relationships. Kitchen and child-rearing duties have been primary roles for women. In modern times the value of this role was diminished. It is time to take back the power of the kitchen!

Nutrition is a community concern. Everything that is important in Head Start is also important to the community. Nutrition is the foundation of health. Health requires access to wholesome, safe, clean foods. Embracing the concepts of traditional foods and eating close to nature supports optimal nutrition for healthy growth and development for all concerned.

It appears to me that the loss of traditional practices has contributed to growing health problems. I believe that an important way to prevent and treat diabetes and other chronic disease is to transition back toward this traditional diet or to a holistic approach with nutritionally equivalent foods.

Traditional foods have many advantages, yet in many ways are a challenge due to limited access to land, potential contamination and limited time (especially for busy Head Start families). Traditional foods include nutrient-dense foods that are low in starch and sugar.

For many busy families, nutritious foods need to be easy to prepare. Nutritionally equivalent foods can bridge the gap toward traditional foods. I invite families to move toward culturally optimal nutrition.

Please note: Traditional foods do not include wheat, milk or sugar (also known as white flour, milk, cheese and soft drinks). People might be confused by the USDA commodity foods that are in direct conflict with traditional foods.

In the kitchen children can be empowered to learn to cook, to help and to connect with family to share what happened each day and more. The kitchen is a place where children are nourished, not only by nutrients and flavors, but by affirmations that help them know just how special they really are.

Remember to include your children in nourishing cooking projects. Remember to have the dinner table be a place of love, support and sharing.

Children need to feel secure with a certain amount of routine around when and where meals and snacks are offered. Young children learn from making choices and are empowered with success when presented with healthy selections.

This nurturing work is ongoing. From my perspective, much of that nurturing is powerful magic that happens in the kitchen. Keep your kitchen a place of love, empowerment and magic.

Everything is connected – nothing in our body stands apart. Nutrition is at the core of health, yet it is not limited to what we eat (or the nutrients we take in). Even when nutritious vital food is consumed, stress and trauma interfere with how our body uses our food (digestion).

Stress and trauma are Tribal concerns. When we learn about and support children's needs, we help Head Start children and their families.

Likewise, if we didn't get the support we needed as children and we address it now, we also help children, their families and a much greater world. Let our connection be rooted in the power of the kitchen.

How does Head Start support kitchen power?

Siletz Tribal Head Start is an important and influential program. As a federally funded program, Head Start meets specific nutrition requirements and performance standards. Head Start focuses on the needs of children and helps connect needs with services.

Head Start provides nutritious food choices through snacks and family-style meals supported with nutrition curriculum. Students are coached to explore foods by tasting and describing them, growing them, and learning about why some are nutritious and how they may fit as traditional foods or their nutritional equivalents.

Food safety and sanitation is followed, monitored and taught. Additionally, the program tracks health screening to support access to health care. Screening includes measurements of height and weight (to calculate BMI, Body Mass Index), hearing, vision, blood pressure, lead, hemoglobin, immunizations, dental and physical exams.

Furthermore, to support health, the program assesses whether students have medical and dental homes as well as health insurance. In this process, referrals are made, as needed, and follow-up is also documented.

Sometimes referrals are made for growth measurements of height and weight (after a BMI calculation). A referral does not necessarily mean there is a problem, but a low or high BMI currently provides an opportunity for a child to receive attention. A referral may be in the form of a letter requesting a follow-up with a doctor.

If you receive a referral like that, another option would be to talk to me, the consulting dietitian/nutritionist, because we could talk about meaningful nutrition information in a personalized way. This service is available to all Head Start families, even if BMI is normal. Parents can request a nutrition consultation by asking the teacher or program director. There is no financial cost to the family for a telephone consultation.

Another purpose behind measuring health indicators is to measure outcomes and therefore, possible success or shortcomings of the program. If the program demonstrates success, funding seems more likely to continue. On the other hand, if health indicators indicate increased risk, a closer look is needed. This could mean changes to the program to better support families.

We must feed ourselves to be sovereign, free and healthy. There is power in our kitchens. Head Start supports kitchen power as a community resource for its students and their families with wide-reaching benefits.

2020 Census jobs available in all Siletz service areas. Help Tribal members be counted in survey

Work as a 2020 Census enumerator pays $15-$18/hour and also has a mileage reimbursement.

Since 1790, the Census Bureau has conducted a national population survey. This is mandated by the U.S. Constitution. After the April 1, 2020, response date, the bureau will use enumerators to go to the homes of people who have not responded to the survey.

Native Americans in general and the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians specifically have been undercounted. The hardest to count groups are children and minorities in rural areas, but this is true in urban areas as well.

The undercount has resulted in being underrepresented and receiving less money from the federal government for the Tribe's transportation and welfare programs. In order to be fully counted, a response is needed from every Tribal household and member.

Show your Native pride and support your community by working in your community. Apply online at 2020Census.gov/jobs or call 855-JOB-2020.

For general information about the 2020 Census, contact Terry Altemus at TerranceA@ctsi.nsn.us or Angela Ramirez at AngelaR@ctsi.nsn.us.

CTSI Estuary and Wetland Curriculum

Tribal Council approved the new 6th Grade Estuary and Wetlands Curriculum Workbooks to be available as a free download from the CTSI website.

The workbooks are a partnership developed with the Institute for Applied Ecology. Staff from Natural Resources, Culture, Diabetes, and Healthy Traditions have worked together to steer the development of the workbooks to include tribal history, culturally inclusive hands on classroom activities, and important native plants to keep on the landscape. We continue to teach our families everyday values such as the importance of maintaining our relationship to the land, plants, and animals.

Natural Resources has propagated over 6000 cuttings, and bulbs for restoration and enhancement projects on Tribal properties. Program staff have identified areas for Tribal Council to approve for habitat conservation and to prioritize restoration projects.

If you vape, whether it's cannabis, nicotine or other products, please quit. These are addictive substances and can cause serious health problems.

What we know

- As of October 1, 2019, 1,080* lung injury cases associated with using e-cigarette, or vaping, products have been reported to CDC from 48 states and 1 U.S. territory.
- Eighteen deaths have been confirmed in 15 states.
- All patients have reported a history of using e-cigarette, or vaping, products.
- Most patients report a history of using THC-containing products. The latest national and regional findings suggest products containing THC play a role in the outbreak.
- Approximately 70% of patients are male.
- Approximately 80% of patients are under 35 years old.
- 16% of patients are under 18 years old
- 21% of patients are 18 to 20 years old

What we don't know

- The specific chemical exposure(s) causing lung injuries associated with e-cigarette use, or vaping, remains unknown at this time.
- No single product or substance has been linked to all lung injury cases.
- The outbreak is occurring in the context of a dynamic marketplace for e-cigarette, or vaping, products, which may have a mix of ingredients, complex packaging and supply chains, and include potentially illicit substances.
- Users may not know what is in their e-cigarette or e-liquid solutions. Many of the products and substances can be modified by suppliers or users. They can be obtained from stores, online retailers, from informal sources (e.g. friends, family members), or "off the street."
- More information is needed to know whether one or more e-cigarette or vaping products, substances, or brands is responsible for the outbreak.

Tribe seeks to update its record of Tribal veterans

It is important for the Tribe to keep a current updated record of our Siletz Tribal veterans. So often we are totally unaware of Siletz veterans who have served our nation, especially our younger veterans.

We are also trying to track how many Vietnam-era veterans have served and also how many were "boots on the ground." I would appreciate it if you could help supply us with this much-needed information. Thank you!

Information for Veterans

- A veteran or a family member whose veteran is enrolled in the VA only has 72 hours to report a non-emergency room hospital visit so as not to get billed.
- There is a new program for veterans called Veterans Appeal Improvement Modernization Act – for those veterans who have been waiting too long for their appeal to be addressed. Again, this is a new program.
- For veterans who are enrolled into the VA system – you can also apply to join My Healthy Vet to have access to your local VA doctor, prescriptions, etc. This is a very useful tool.
- Also, some veterans have joined the EBenefits logon application to try and do their VA needs online, but first you must be eligible to apply for VA benefits. I'm here to help you in that VA enrollment process. It's your choice to try EBenefits or let me assist you.

- The VA can be a very complex program and very trying to one's patience – and I have experienced certain road blocks. So please give me a call and I will do everything within my means to make sure you can enroll in the VA system.
- Our VA presumes that spinal bifida in biological children of certain Vietnam-era veterans who were exposed to Agent Orange was caused by the veteran's military service. Eligible children may receive VA benefits.

Contact Molina if you have questions on any of these items.

SUBOXONE THERAPY

Available at the Siletz Community Health Clinic

Our providers Lisa Taylor, FNP, and Jalien Dorris, DO, are now licensed to prescribe suboxone for Siletz Tribal members and/or community members who are struggling with heroin, prescription drugs or substance abuse.

We are contracting with Eric Davis, MAC, CADCIH, with his expertise in medication assisted therapy (MAT), he will assist with the implementation of our new suboxone program.

Wondering what suboxone is? Suboxone is a medication that helps your family members who are struggling with heroin and opioid addiction by taking away the symptoms of opiate withdrawal and drug cravings that are normally associated with quitting heroin and opioids.

We encourage you to contact the clinic and ask questions about our program. We want to assure you that we will provide compassionate and non-judgmental care from staff members who understand the challenges associated with addiction. We would love to help you with taking the first step toward recovery.

If you have questions regarding the suboxone program or would like to make an appointment, please call the numbers listed below.

Get There – New online carpooling tool launches in Benton, Lincoln, Linn counties

Get There, previously Drive Less Connect, helps Oregonians match carpool partners and plan trips, reducing need to drive alone

The Oregon Cascades West Council of Governments (OCWCOG) is partnering with the Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) on the launch of ODOT's new online carpooling tool – Get There, formerly Drive Less Connect.

Get There helps match carpool partners who want to share rides within Benton, Lincoln and Linn counties via a web-based ride-matching and trip-planning tool. GetThereOregon.org makes it easier than ever for Oregonians to take advantage of transportation options like carpooling, vanpooling, walking, biking or riding transit.

“The availability of multiple modes of transportation options – including carpooling and vanpooling across our region – is critically important to connect the valley and the coast,” said Dann Cutter, mayor of Waldport, and an Executive Committee member of OCWCOG’s Board of Directors. “Get There is a great option for our residents, allowing them to save money on gas, helping our environment and removing cars from the roads. We appreciate ODOT for making the platform available and for continuing this longstanding partnership with OCWCOG.”

OCWCOG’s program, Cascades West Transportation Options (CWTO), is the regional administrator for the Get There program in Linn, Benton, and Lincoln counties. CWTO provides outreach, education, carpool/vanpool matching services and Cascades West RideLine, an emergency ride home program for commuters living or working in the three counties.

The Get There platform allows users to be matched with a passenger or a driver looking to share a ride, available transit, or distance and time to walk or bike to a specific destination. Using the tool helps travelers choose the best mode for their specific trip and share the cost; it also reduces automobile emissions that harm the environment.

“Our goal is to help people have more choices for the way they travel,” said Kris Strickler, administrator, ODOT Highway Division. “With more options, we usually see fewer vehicles on the road and that means less congestion and frustration for everyone.”

In October, Get There will host the annual Get There Challenge, formerly the Oregon Drive Less Challenge. This year’s challenge will feature a range of prizes for people who live or work in Oregon to log trips made without driving alone.

Statewide sponsors include Providence Health & Services and Bike Friday; local sponsors include Mid-Willamette Family YMCA, Izzy’s Pizza, Mo’s Restaurant and the Lincoln City Community Center.

Get details and sign up at GetThereOregon.org. It’s free, easy and secure!.

Grants to StrongHearts Native Helpline will expand culturally based services

EAGAN, Minn. – Within three years of launching its collaborative project, the National Indigenous Women’s Resource Center (NIWRC) announced in October the StrongHearts Native Helpline (Strong-Hearts) is receiving two grants from the Office of Victims of Crime under the U.S. Department of Justice for a combined total of $2,768,168 to enhance services over the next three years.

The awards – provided by the Office of Victims of Crime Advancing the Use of Technology to Assist Victims of Crime and the Field-Generated Program to Improve Services for Victims of Crime – will be utilized to extend the helpline’s operating hours to 24 hours a day, develop advocacy training and services to assist survivors of sexual violence, as well as implement digital chat services to help increase accessibility and address caller safety.

Launch dates for the digital chat service and 24/7 operating hours will be released at a later time.

“Considering Native women are 2.5 times more likely to be raped or be a victim of sexual assault than other groups, the StrongHearts Native Helpline serves as a potential lifeline for survivors of these crimes,” said Lori Jump, assistant director for StrongHearts. “We also know in remote areas, some victims may not have phone service or may fear their abusive partner overhearing them in an attempt to call, so providing a digital chat service option is crucial for increasing access for everyone in our communities.”

American Indians and Alaska Natives suffer from the highest rates of violence in the U.S., according to the National Institute of Justice. In March 2017, the StrongHearts Native Helpline (844-7NATIVE) began providing callers with culturally based support for domestic violence and dating violence, along with a connection to Native resources.

Grounded in an understanding of Native cultures, Tribal sovereignty and traditions, Native advocates are specially trained to provide callers with emotional support, crisis intervention, personalized safety planning, and a referral to a Native and Tribal service provider if needed. Currently, the helpline is available every day from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. (Central).

“Since the very beginning, StrongHearts staff listened to the critical needs of Native communities across the country and identified the need for 24/7 operations,” said Lucy Simpson, executive director of the National Indigenous Women’s Resource Center. “Now with these two awards, we can realize the collective vision of having a dedicated Native helpline to serve survivors of violence in a culturally rooted way at all hours of the day and night.”

About the StrongHearts Native Helpline

Created by and built to serve Tribal communities across the United States, the StrongHearts Native Helpline is a culturally appropriate, anonymous, confidential and no-cost service dedicated to serving American Indian survivors of domestic violence and dating violence, along with their concerned family members and friends.

By dialing 844-7NATIVE (844-762-8483), callers can connect one-on-one with knowledgeable StrongHearts advocates who can provide immediate support and a connection to Native resources to enable survivors to find safety and live lives free of abuse.

StrongHearts is available daily from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. (CT). Callers reaching out after hours can connect with the National Domestic Violence Hotline (800-799-SAFE) by selecting option 1.

STAHS spends afternoon learning about an ancestor of Simmons, other families

As part of their mission to build a cultural center with a museum component in Siletz, whenever the opportunity arises the members of the Siletz Tribal Arts & Heritage Society make it a point to visit museums and cultural centers.

This provides an opportunity to gather ideas on how cultural items can be displayed, what will be of particular interest to children, new and innovative ideas that have been found to help display information and interactive displays that have been successful. Along with that, it's just fun, educational and entertaining.

On Sept. 14, Gloria Ingle, Teresa Simmons, Shawna Gray, Angela Ramirez, Celesta Lee and Grace Elting Castle, all members of the society, ventured to the Tillamook County Pioneer Museum for a reason of more personal interest to the Siletz Tribe. Information including photos and articles can be found there about Webley Hauxhurst and his wife, Mary, parents of Nelsen Hauxhurst, who with Lydia Simmons were parents of Hoxie Simmons, a patriarch of the Simmons and many other families of the Siletz Tribe.

History indicates that Webley was a man of distinction and principle. Information taken in part from an unspecified publication tells us he was born in 1809 at Long Island, N.Y. In the early 1830s, he sailed around the horn to Monterey, Calif., and later, in the company of Ewing Young and others, he came to Oregon. He settled in Champoeg and built the first grist mill in Oregon.

Webley met, fell in love with and married Wat-tiat, daughter of the Chief of the Yamhills, who took the name of Mary upon her baptism. Webley voted for the Oregon Territory at Champoeg. The family moved to Salem and, in order to provide an education for his children, he subscribed a permanent scholarship to a fledgling school that became known as Willamette University.

As Webley gained popularity in political circles, Mary said she would leave as she would be a handicap to him. Webley sold his mill, resigned from his activities and taking his wife and 11 children, moved to the Bayocean spit near Tillamook. He captained the schooner "Champion," taking the settlers' produce into Oregon City.

Webley and Mary lived out their lives on Bayocean, which eventually was reclaimed by the currents of the Pacific. Webley died Jan. 23, 1874. Mary followed several years later in 1907. They are both buried in Trout Cemetery in Tillamook.

Volunteers needed to cut firewood for elders

The Natural Resources Department periodically receives inquiries from Tribal elders asking if there is anyone who would be willing to cut Tribal firewood for them. We are starting a list of volunteers willing to cut firewood for Tribal elders and a list of elders who want someone to cut firewood for them.

If you fit either category, please call the Natural Resources Department – Denise Garrett at 541-444-8227, Mike Kennedy at 541-444-8232 or either at 800-922-1399. We will then pair up volunteer firewood cutters and elders in need.

Please note, this is a volunteer activity. No one will be paid to perform this service and elders should not be charged anything to receive firewood.

A Tribal firewood permit is required and is issued by Natural Resources.

OCB's experienced counselors, teachers and employment specialists provide highly specialized training and services, including job readiness and everyday living skills, to qualified Oregonians all across the state.

We provide our participants with paid internships at NO cost to employers and cover workers compensation insurance for OCB clients in a Work Experience. A diverse, skilled workforce is stronger and can deliver more for your business and the community that you serve.

In addition to providing job readiness training and services, the OCB Independent Living Program for the Older Blind serves people 55 and older with vision loss who are at retirement age or not interested in working; it is not necessary to be legally blind to participate. We also have an independent living program for participants under 55 who do not wish to work, but they must be legally blind in order to qualify. Both programs cover the entire State of Oregon and are totally free!

How the Independent Living Program works: Experienced teachers will come to your home to do a low-vision assessment and make specific recommendations to make it more accessible. Teachers share techniques on how to perform the daily tasks you need most, including traveling safely, using household appliances, using technology for planning and communication, keeping organized and doing daily tasks, and more.

Savvy Caregiver in Indian Country Training

Savvy Caregiver in Indian Country is a six-part group program, which lasts approximately two hours per part, for Native people.

It's designed to help caregivers provide care and support for someone with Alzheimer's or dementia.

Savvy Caregiver in Indian Country is a culturally adapted program developed by Dr. J Neil Henderson (Oklahoma Choctaw), executive director of the Memory Keepers Medical Discovery Team on Health Disparities at the University of Minnesota Medical School.

These free classes offer care strategies, resources and support to the caregiver. Savvy Caregiver training teaches the caregiver to know the stages of dementia. Knowing the stage allows the caregiver to use activities and tasks that better fit the abilities and capabilities of their loved one, resulting in more hours of "contented involvement."

Training will be provided by staff from the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians. To sign up for this important informational training, contact the staff person for your area.

After-hours crisis line now available at 541-444-8286 or 800-600-5599

Because mental health and relapse crises do not always happen during business hours, Siletz Behavioral Health has arranged a collaboration with an after-hours crisis line called Lines for Life.

On weekends and during the weekday hours of 5 p.m. to 8 a.m., the number to the Behavioral Health front desk is forwarded to Lines for Life, where you will be connected with a live mental health counselor.

The counselor will do everything he/she can to help de-escalate, advise and support.

Afterwards, this information can be shared with our mental health counselor so follow-up care can be provided.

Of course, if there is an emergency and you fear that you or someone else is in imminent danger, please call 911. That's always the fastest way to get help.
